2020-08-25	1400	History	First Civilisations	Religion	01	2	Religion has always been the soulmate of civilisation - they are meant for each other. This connection was first made in Ancient Egypt, which is still the longest lasting civilisation in world history. All civilisations since have borrowed something of the blueprint established by the Egyptians. Remarkably, it is possible to trace the birth of organised religion to a specific site known as Nabta Playa in the Egyptian desert. Here, 8,000 years ago, herders built stone circles and erected megaliths as a place of worship. Archaeologist and series consultant, Jeff Rose believes the site was a prototype church where people tried to understand their place within the ever-changing rhythms of the natural world. 2020-08-26	1400	History	First Civilisations	Cities	01	3	Having lived as mobile foragers for 99% of our time on Earth, why did our ancestors stop moving and start settling in villages, towns and cities? The process started in the hills of southern Turkey at a site known as Gobekli Tepe. The impulse to be social brought large numbers of people together for seasonal feasts. The site was so important to them they marked it out with huge carved pillars - the world's first monument. But to stay on a permanent basis they needed a permanent supply of food. Archaeologist Jens Notroff explains the solution came around 10,000 years ago, when people in this region worked out how to plant, cultivate and harvest wheat. In so doing, they changed the trajectory of human history. Tied to the land, farmers needed to live in one place on a year-round basis - the village was born. 2020-08-26	1500	History	Great British Railway Journeys	Winchfield To Crowthorne	05	12	Michael Portillo continues his journey from the Hampshire coast to the West Midlands in a distinctly military vein. At Winchfield, he discovers the vast carriage which carried the Duke of Wellington's coffin to his state funeral at St Paul's Cathedral in 1852 and hears how the Duke's chestnut stallion also received full military honours when he was buried at the Duke's seat, Stratfield Saye. Michael then heads for Farnborough and the army camp at Aldershot, where, after the Crimean War, greater physical fitness among rank and file Victorian soldiers became a priority. Private Portillo joins the regulars to be put through his paces under military instruction. Sanctuary is not far away in Farnborough North at the Benedictine Monastery of St Michael, where Michael visits the tomb of the French Emperor Napoleon III and his family. He ends today's leg of his journey in Crowthorne, where in the year his Bradshaw's was published, there opened a notorious new institution: England's first Asylum for the Criminally Insane, Broadmoor. 2020-08-26	1930	History	Tony Robinson: Britain's Ancient Tracks		North Downs Way, The	01	3	The Pilgrims Way is a series of tracks in the south of England following the ancient track of the North Downs, which bore many a pilgrim to the shrines of Winchester and Canterbury along its chalky arc. But there's more to the Pilgrim's Way than pilgrims. The North Downs is the most ancient route to Europe, having been connected by that very chalk to the continent from the Ice Age. Through retreating glaciers and rising sea levels, the chalk was cut by the North and Atlantic seas so that between 5500 to 3500 years ago the Dover coast first began to resemble its iconic white cliffs profile. 2020-08-28	2700	History	Soundtracks: Songs That Defined History		Berlin Wall And The Fall Of Communism, The	01	8	After decades living under a repressive Communist regime, the people of East Germany could no longer stay trapped behind the brick wall that separated them from their countrymen in the West - and so they tore that Wall down. Since the 1960s, West Berlin had been a cultural hotspot and a draw for artists like the Rolling Stones and David Bowie. But because rock music was considered politically dangerous to the Communist authorities, teenagers in the East had little access to it. This episode charts the course of the Cold War in Berlin through music, showing how it helped to sow the seeds of rebellion. After the Wall officially came down in 1989, a number of artists including Roger Waters of Pink Floyd put on concerts to celebrate. But it was a German band, the Scorpions, who came up with the true anthem of that moment in time, 'Wind of Change', which captured the bittersweet emotions behind such a dramatic moment in history.
